

Week 6.2

Grammar: verb + object + infinitive

Pronunciation: stress in words with -tion/--sion

Speaking: talking about personal rituals

A little bit of practice

Grammar: verb + object + infinitive

Listen to the conversation. How does the woman's new job compare to a traditional job?

Have a look at these lines from the listening. What is the target grammatical structure?

“They allow people to arrive at any time they want...”

“...they don’t force people to work if they aren’t feeling creative.”

“They even ask us not to work at our desks...”

“They encourage us to move around...”

“If someone needs you to do something, they text you.”

Some other common verbs that take this structure:

- advise
- allow
- command
- forbid
- force
- invite
- order
- persuade
- remind
- teach
- tell

Rewrite the sentences with the verbs in brackets.

1. In the army, people have to show respect for higher-ranking members.
The army _____. (force)
2. Many universities tell freshers that it is a good idea to join an organisation.
Many universities _____. (encourage)
3. Doctors say that people shouldn't look at a computer screen for too long.
Doctors _____. (warn)
4. I have to ask someone for help with this project.
I _____. (need)
5. At some universities, freshers don't have permission to live off campus.
Some universities _____. (allow)
6. Our boss says it isn't a good idea to eat lunch at our desks.
Our boss _____. (advise)

Work in pairs. Discuss the advantages of these traditional and non-traditional ways of studying. Can you think of any others?

Traditional

- studying on campus
- studying on a fixed schedule

Non-traditional

- studying remotely
- setting your own study schedule

Pronunciation: stress in words with
-tion/--sion

Listen to the words ending in -tion and -sion. Where does the stress fall in each one?

- tradition
- initiation
- institution
- permission
- distraction
- graduation

Listen to the text. Then work in pairs and take turns reading it. Pay particular attention to words ending in -tion and -sion.

There's an initiation ritual at our institution which is a very old tradition. All the freshers have to take a test while the established students try to distract them by making lots of noise. You have to try and ignore all the confusion and the distractions, and it takes all your powers of concentration! It's a fun occasion and a real celebration!

Speaking: talking about personal rituals

Listen to the text. Then work in pairs and take turns reading it. Pay particular attention to words ending in -tion and -sion.

There's an initiation ritual at our institution which is a very old tradition. All the freshers have to take a test while the established students try to distract them by making lots of noise. You have to try and ignore all the confusion and the distractions, and it takes all your powers of concentration! It's a fun occasion and a real celebration!

When you think of rituals, you probably think of traditions at weddings or activities at club initiations. But there is another type of common ritual – personal rituals. For example, an athlete may do things in a certain order on the day of a game, or a singer may always greet an audience in the same way. Personal rituals can be very simple; for example, maybe you always sit in a favourite chair to have your morning coffee, or perhaps you write down the things you have to do every day and cross them off your list as you do them. Other rituals are a little more unusual or even obsessive. There are people who can't sleep if they haven't put away everything in their bedroom or cleaned out their email inbox. Other people count exactly how many times they chew their food before swallowing. Whether they are simple or complex, personal rituals are a part of everyone's life.

Complete the sentences with the correct forms of the verbs. One of the words can be used more than once.

1. I always _____ on my clothes in the same order every day – socks first!
2. To get organised, I _____ a to-do list; then I _____ things off my list when I have done them.
3. I don't make a list, but every morning I mentally _____ over the things I have to do.
4. I _____ through my wardrobe at the weekend and _____ out what I'm going to wear for the whole week.
5. Every spring, I _____ out all my cupboards and organise the house from top to bottom.
6. Before an exam, I always _____ all my pens up in a certain order on the desk.

clean ~ cross ~ go ~ line ~ put ~ work ~ write
--

Listen to three people talking about their personal rituals. What rituals do they mention?

Think about your personal rituals. Make notes about the things you do. Include reasons why you do them.

Work in pairs. Tell your partner about your rituals.

A little bit of practice

Complete the text with the correct forms of the words from the box.

To: j.patterson@ug.mac.wd

From: kylie@mastermail.mac.wd

Subject: Hello

I can't believe it – I'm actually going to be a University of Georgia student! On Saturday I went to a party for new students. It was a sort of combination welcome party and (1) _____, and all the (2) _____ had to wear costumes. Wearing a silly costume is a University of Georgia (3) _____ and it's (4) _____ of our low status, but it's fun too! I went dressed as a chicken because that's the university (5) _____! The party was good because I've been quite nervous about starting classes next week. I've (6) _____ everything I have to do before next week, and the lists are all over my room. Every day I (7) _____ the things I've done, but the lists never seem to get smaller! I've walked around the campus to (8) _____ the fastest ways to get from one class to another, and I've (9) _____ my timetable mentally lots of times to memorise it. I've bought all my books and have them (10) _____ on my desk.

cross off ~ fresher ~ go over ~ initiation ~ line up ~ mascot ~ ritual ~ symbolic ~ work out ~ write down

Choose the correct options to complete the email.

To: kylie@mastermail.mac.wd

From: j.patterson@ug.mac.wd

Subject: Re: Hey

Hey Kylie, I'm arriving in Georgia on Thursday to move into my halls before classes start. I just can't (1) be / get used to the idea that I'm finally going to be living away from home! Did your parents manage to persuade (2) to live / you to live at home? My parents want me (3) stay / to stay in halls for at least a year. Anyway ... you sound a little nervous. I was too, but my brother told me (4) not to / don't worry. He's in his third year here, so he's (5) use / used to the place. I think I'm going to need (6) he / him to show me around! He said that the first week is pretty light. They don't (7) expect / expect you to do lots of homework, and they just allow you (8) settle / to settle in. They encourage freshers (9) to go / going out and (10) be / get used to the campus and the city. I was going to do six classes, but my brother warned me not (11) take / to take so many in my first term, so I'm doing the normal five classes. Anyway, once I'm settled, I'll invite (12) to stay / you to stay! See you soon!