Theme 11.* The Philosophy of Spirituality

Tashkent – 2024

Outline:

THE ETYMOLOGY AND
DEFINITION OF THE CONCEPT

FACTORS OF SPIRITUALITY

RESTORATION OF NATIONAL AND RELIGIOUS VALUES

Etymology of Spirituality

- Spirituality is the totality of manifestations of the spirit in the world.
- In sociology, culture and journalism, "spirituality" is often called the unifying principles of society, expressed in the form of moral values and traditions, concentrated, as a rule, in religious teachings and practices, as well as in artistic images.
- The term spirit generally means "animating or vital principle in man". It is derived from the Old French esprit, and in turn, it comes from the Latin word spiritus (soul, vigor, breath).

Definition of Spirituality

- The meaning of the term has developed and expanded over long historical periods and as a result, different connotations were emerged.
- It should be noted that "spirituality" originally developed within early Christianity. During late medieval era the meaning broadened, and it included mental aspects of life.
- It is asserted that the strengthening of spirituality is carried out in the process of:
 1. preaching (exhortation)
 2. enlightenment
 3. patriotic work.

Relevancy of spirituality

- The spirituality of society is an important condition and guarantee of the country's stability.
- No country can rise to the level of high development, without:
 - developing its spiritual potential
 - advancing cultural and moral values in the minds of people
 - strengthening national spirit of the people.
- As Islam Karimov pointed out in his book - “High spirituality – invincible force”: Spirituality is
 - a powerful force that appeals people to spiritual purification and elevation
 - enriches their inner world
 - promotes their faith, convictions, and conscience

Attitude towards Spirituality

- History shows that there were times when our country was subjected to persecution by foreign aggressors.
- In particular, at the time of soviet period, the attitude towards the factors of spirituality was dramatically changed:
 - national values, traditions were abandoned
 - our language, our rich spiritual heritage have been degraded
 - many mosques and madrasas, national schools, historical monuments have been destroyed, and they were left without care.
 - our ancestors have been condemned by an idealist, a policy targeting for forget and lose their works was carried out.
 - Islamic religious values, the beliefs of the Muslims were abandoned, and the clergy was persecuted.

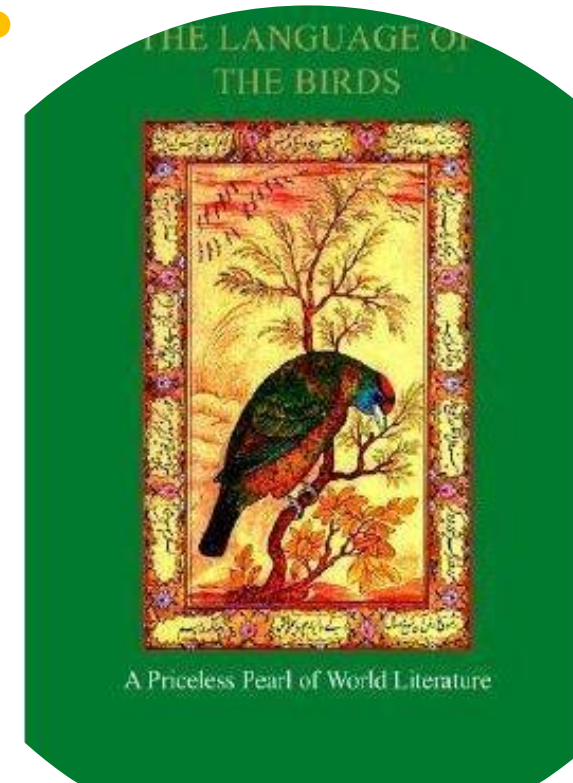

Attitude towards Spirituality

- Under the slogan of a cultural revolution, the rulers of the dictatorship systematized political repressions of hundreds of talented, national-liberal patriotic intellectuals, and their children
- The old regime pursued its ideological power in media and entire educational system
- However, despite these difficulties, our people did not lose their selflessness but attempted to keep their rich spiritual heritage and national values intact.

Alisher Navoi - the founder of the Uzbek literary language

- In 1991, the 550th anniversary of our great ancestor Alisher Navoi was widely celebrated.

Study of invaluable work

- "Zīj-i Sulṭānī" consists of four major parts. The first part, called Chronology, describes the chronological methods adopted by the various peoples of the East. The second part deals with practical astronomy, the third with information about the motion of visible stars based on the world's geocentric system, and the fourth with astrology - the inevitable fate of the science of medieval worldview.
- In 1648, in Oxford, one of the oldest centers of science and culture in England, the first major work of Ulugbek at the famous Samarkand Observatory was partially published. John Greaves (1602 - 1652), a professor of astronomy at the University of Oxford, prepared the work for publication and commented on it. Subsequently, the series plates were published several times in the UK.
- A more detailed analysis of Ulugbek's table, based on the study of 8 manuscripts preserved in British libraries, was published in 1917 in the United States by E.J. B. Nobel's "Ulugh Beg's Catalog of Stars. Revised from all Persian Manuscripts Existing in Great Britain".
